COMPANY TAILORED SECURITY MANAGEMENT SOLUTIONS

For ages, security has been one of man's basic needs. In the early days threats came from crime, war and diseases. Although times have changed, the security risks largely remain the same. Personnel nowadays still can face danger in unsafe territory. In order to provide a secure working environment for its personnel, organisations should have relevant risks identified, assessed and mitigated. Schütz & Swart analyses and controls the security risks inherent to activities in unsafe territories around the world. The decision models Schütz & Swart have developed for this purpose are unique: they combine the principles and values of your company with best practices within the security industry. Our security advice is based on international standards for security risk management and is executed by experienced security managers and operatives. We provide high quality services and rapid deployments. An effective and sustainable approach to cover one of your organisation's primary needs.
